Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 13 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A wet and breezy day for most, with thunder possible.

Today:
A rainy start for many, especially southern and western areas. The rain will give way to scattered showers from late morning, interspersed by some sunny spells. These showers could be heavy and possibly thundery. Breezy at times. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Occasionally heavy evening showers will linger overnight, easing slightly as they do so. A cloudy night for most, with limited clear spells. Frost-free. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Friday:
A cloudy start, with cloud gradually breaking up through the day leaving afternoon sunny spells. The odd scattered shower remains likely, but these lighter and less frequent than recently. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Remaining unsettled throughout the period, with sunny spells and showers. These showers are likely to persist overnight in places, with the widespread daytime showers heavy and thundery at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.